

Meet Michael

Michael is a soft-spoken, sensitive, eleven-year old, African-American little boy who is tall for his age. He has been in foster care for a little over five years and really wants a family to call his own. Michael enjoys playing video games and football. He also enjoys riding his scooter, eating at McDonald's, and watching sports and cartoons on television.

He enjoys schools and especially likes math. Even with his quiet demeanor, Michael never ceases to surprise the adults in his life with his eagerness and willingness to learn new things.

Michael is close to his foster parents would like to maintain contact them even after he is adopted. His ideal family would be one with pets, other children, and a dad.
