Markayla, age 10, is the typical "big sister" of this bunch. She is an energetic and enthusiastic child who does not have a problem meeting new people. Markayla has an upbeat personality and is not shy even when her surroundings change. Markayla is in the 3rd grade and working at grade level. In the past, she has struggled academically, and needed additional support from her foster family and school. Markayla does not have any medical needs and will thrive with a family that offers a positive, structured environment.

Deanna, age 8, is initially quiet, but once she gets to know you, she is quite the opposite and reveals her friendly, extroverted disposition. She is in the 2nd grade and works slightly below grade level in reading for which she is receiving tutoring services. Described, by her foster family as a "typical child", Deanna may get upset when she does not get her way, but quickly settles back into the routine. Although small for her age in comparison to other children, Deanna is in good physical health and does not have any medical needs.

Deandrea, age 5, has an inquisitive nature that is part of the charm this affectionate, chatty child possesses. Her bright eyes and infectious smile are beautiful assets to this aspiring singer and dancer. Deandrea also likes to draw and color and is very anxious to learn to read. She does well in day care and is looking forward to going to Kindergarten. With the exception of digestive issues that may cause occasional diarrhea, Deandrea is in good physical health.

Dean, age 3, is an active, happy little boy. Like his two sisters, he is also small for his age. Developmentally on target, Dean enjoys playing with his trucks and looking at his collection of children's books. He is very sociable with other children, but with all the excitement of being with friends, he may need to be reminded to settle down. Dean's medical needs include respiratory problems, ear infections and digestive issues that can cause diarrhea.
