

KEN & ANGELA

Dear Expectant Parents,

In our family, we love big, laugh a lot, are thankful, always do our best, say sorry, try to do better in the future, have fun, and trust God with all our hearts.

We have been married for more than ten years. We met each other through a mutual friend by chance and almost two and a half years later we were married. We enjoy going on date nights, going out to eat, traveling, and spending time with our family and friends. We feel very blessed to be parents to our daughter. We are both excited at the prospect to become parents again, share our traditions and make new ones.

We may not feel or understand the emotions you are going through but we pray for you and that you find peace with your decision. Looking at all options really shows the love you have for your child and willingness to do what you feel is best no matter what you choose. We have a lot of respect for you. We hope that learning about our lives together and as individuals will help you on your own journey. We look forward to seeing what God has in store for all of us. We are humbled at the opportunity to adopt again. Thank you so much for considering us.

Love,
Ken, Angela and Adrienne

ABOUT US

Ken is laid back, caring, helpful, and dependable. He works as an IT Engineer and enjoys hiking, biking, grilling, playing golf, and running. His favorite color is gray.

Angela is organized, sweet, loving, and giving. She is a stay-at-home mom who loves playing tennis, reading, journaling, and hiking. Her favorite color is teal.

Adrienne is silly, thoughtful, playful, and extroverted. She loves crafting, swimming, and playing with Legos, dolls, and her friends. She loves pink & purple.

We live in a large suburb though it feels like we're in the country. We're at the end of a dead end street surrounded by woods in a four bedroom, 2.5 bathroom, two story colonial house. We are close to everything imaginable. Neighborhood kids often play basketball and other sports in front of our house.

Our subdivision has a picnic every year with a BBQ and bounce house for the kids.

Views on Adoption: Being parents was always our plan but God's plan for us was bigger. We found out we are unable to conceive biological children two years after we got married. We adopted our daughter Adrienne in 2013 and would love to grow our family through adoption again and share our adventures and blessings with another child.

We have several relatives who are adopted and some amazing close friends that have also adopted. We are immeasurably blessed and surrounded by love and support. To celebrate adoption at our house, we make a picture book with our child's story and we discuss in age-appropriate ways. We want our children to feel comfortable asking questions. We also share how grateful we are and that the decision was difficult to make and done out of love. Our goal is that our children will have a strong foundation full of love so they can grow up feeling safe, secure, and happy. We have so much respect for you even considering an adoption plan for your child.

Views on Parenting, Education and Discipline: We feel it is our job as parents to prepare our children for life, but to have fun along the way. We also feel it is important to take the time to show our children that every job in life is important and needed. We feel kids should be kids and age-appropriate discipline and expectations are important. We want lots of fun and laughter and silliness as well as kindness.

We believe it is our job as parents to give our kid(s) the tools necessary to be successful adults by providing a quality education, logical consequences, and a loving, supportive home.

Family Life: Family is truly what makes us the happiest. We eat dinner each night together. We love spending time together playing games, going on hikes, bike rides, having dance parties, etc. We feel our child is only this young once so we do our best to soak in both the good and bad. We regularly go to the Children's Museum, animal exhibits, science center, history museum and storytime.

Holidays: We spend all holidays with immediate and extended family. Angela and Adrienne have decorating parties for each season and we decorate as a family for Christmas.

Religious Life: God is the heart of our family. Our children will grow up knowing Christianity and learning about God's grace and love.

Openness: Should you be interested in our family, and would like to, we'd like to meet you. We would like to start by sending pictures and letters, and possibly build from there. Should you decide you would like no contact we respect your decision. Our hearts are open, and we promise to instill a home full of love, support, and happiness. We will be an example of how to love and be loved. Most importantly, we will ensure that our children will grow up knowing the story of his or her birth, and the truth of their birth mother's love that brought us all together.
