

MOLLY

...WAITING TO ADOPT

Dear Birth Parent,

I wrote and re-wrote the words in this letter so many times I've lost count. These words come from my heart and will hopefully reach yours. I pray for you, your unborn child and for your family. I pray that you may find comfort, peace, guidance, and love during this time in your life. I cannot even begin to understand the challenges you have had to face during this journey. I have spent countless nights thinking of a way to show and communicate my gratitude and admiration for you being strong to do something so selfless. You don't know me yet, but I wish I could express just how much love I already have in my heart for the baby that I dream of holding in my arms some-day. I have hopes and dreams of providing a warm and loving environment for your child to grow up in. I dream of giving a childhood full of laughter, play, and happiness. I pray that I will raise your child to be as loving, brave, and selfless as you.

Love,
Molly

About Me

I'm an Occupational Therapist at an elementary school. For fun, I like spending time with family and friends, Netflix, people-watching, patio-sitting, and donut-eating.

I have an 11 year old dog named Murphy. He's my partner in crime and he makes me laugh on a daily basis.

I love attending local sport events and cheering on the home teams! My favorite movies are "Top Gun" and "The Wizard of Oz".

Why Adopt?

I always dreamed of going to college, getting married, and starting a family of my own. That is not the path my life took, and that's OK. I am taking the path less traveled. My story may not look or sound like everyone else's. My family has always been there for me and I wouldn't be the person I am today without them. They have been and will continue to be an incredible support system.

Parenting Philosophy

I want my child to know happiness, to love and to be loved, live with confidence, have a sense of humor, be educated, be spiritually and religiously grounded, and live a fulfilling life.

My House

My home is a ranch-style built in 2011 in a family-friendly neighborhood. There are three bedrooms, three bathrooms, a finished basement with large deck, comfortable lower patio, and fenced-in backyard. There's even a pond across the street with a dock that's perfect for relaxing, feeding the ducks, and even fishing!

Traditions

My family has always looked forward to the holidays. We try and spend as much time with one another, since not all of my family members live in town. I see my extended family members many times a year. I'm looking forward to forming my own family traditions with a child.

My Personality

Quirky, dedicated, hard-working, compassionate, determined, fun, crafty, independent, and creative

Openness

As an adoptive parent, my promise to you is that your child will be loved unconditionally and will never go a day without hearing 'I love you'. I promise that your child will know you in whatever capacity you are comfortable with.

I will educate my child about the people that brought him or her into the world. I am open to including letters and pictures and possible future visits. Thanks to social media it's so much easier to keep in contact!
